Service Developments

Reproductive Medicine

I led a major review/redevelopment of AC services and clearly set out a strategy for its redevelopment with:

- a new organisational structure with clear leadership roles, accountability and lines of reporting with a management team at the top
- redesigned services to increase treatment capacity from 20-25 per week to up to 40 per week putting the service back into a financial break even position
- a new stimulation protocol for fresh IVF/ICSI that has led to substantial savings in non-pay costs (about £150 per cycle)
- four new sub-committees with responsibility for Quality and Governance, Research and Innovation, Education and Staff Development, and Fund raising and Endowments
- weekly staff meetings to improve dialogue and information dissemination and with all major decisions discussed at these meetings before ratification by the management team

Endometriosis

I played a leading role in the development of this tertiary referral service that provides advanced management of Endometriosis for the whole of the North West of England. The service enjoys the support of Urological, Colorectal, Pain management and Counselling colleagues. There are monthly MDT meetings of all involved specialists.

Advanced Laparoscopic Surgery

I am part of the Advanced Laparoscopy Surgery Group that has developed advanced minimal access surgery options for benign gynaecological conditions with provision of Laparoscopic treatment of pelvic and rectovaginal endometriosis, hysterectomy, myomectomy, sterilisation reversal, cervical cerclage.

Emergency Gynaecology

I am responsible for the development of a centralised Emergency Gynaecology service that incorporates both Early Pregnancy and Acute Gynaecology. Initiated robust biochemical and theatre support for the service with a 2hr turn-around time for hCG and Progesterone.

Ambulatory management of hyperemesis gravidarum

I introduced ambulatory management of hyperemesis to this Hospital to reduce admissions for this condition and the reliance on scarce inpatient bed space.

Outpatient surgical management of miscarriage

I introduced outpatient surgical management of miscarriage to this Hospital to facilitate surgical management of miscarriage and reduce reliance on scarce inpatient and theatre capacity.

One-Stop Subfertility Clinic

I developed one-stop evaluation and treatment of couples with subfertility to expedite their assessment and treatment and prevent unnecessary delays in their journey caused by repeated outpatient visits.

Conferences organised

Endometriosis and Adhesions in Gynaecological Practice, March 2009

Organised under the auspices of GERF and targeted at anyone involved in gynaecological practice and management of endometriosis. 95 delegates attended.

Reproductive Surgery in the 21st Century, September 2007

Organised under the auspices of GERF and targeted at reproductive surgeons and anyone involved in the gynaecological practice and managing endometriosis. 65 delegates attended.

Art and Science of Assisted Conception, September 2006

Organised under the auspices of GRAPE and targeted at reproductive physicians and surgeons and anyone involved in the management of subfertile couples. 58 delegates attended.

Annual Scientific Conference of the Association of Early Pregnancy Units, November 2006

Organised under the auspices of the Association of Early Pregnancy Units (AEPU) and targeted at anyone involved in the provision of emergency gynaecological care. 218 delegates attended and profits of over £8,000 remitted back to the AEPU.

Evidence-based Emergency Gynaecology, September 2005

Organised under the auspices of GRAPE and targeted at anyone involved in the provision of emergency gynaecological care. 97 delegates attended.

Courses organised

Emergency Gynaecology Course for Doctors, organised in July/August 2006-2008

Annual emergency gynaecology teaching course for Doctors organised under the auspices of GRAPE. 20-30 delegates catered for each year.

Emergency Gynaecology for Nurses and Midwives, organised in April-June every year since 2004

Annual emergency gynaecology teaching course for Nurses and Midwives organised under the auspices of GRAPE. Approximately 15 delegates catered for each year.
